About Transform through Arts Theater

Ever since I was a child I knew that something greater than me exists that unites all of us together in something greater, of which we are each a part.

I knew that we are here to embody something greater than ourselves and to grow in Love as humanity on all levels, from family and intimate relationships to community, from planetary to Universal level. As my life has unfolded and I have awakened to know who I am and who I am becoming, I have wanted to share and connect with people in that oneness.

Through my own journey, I have discovered that the Performing Arts and the Arts in general, whether music, dance or painting, form a direct connection that ignites, awakens and gives us an experience beyond the barriers and limitations of who we think we are. Art awakens our souls and our essence at the very core.

As we allow ourselves to channel our unique Divine energy that flows through us, connection with each other begins to take on a different meaning. We see each other as unique pieces of the puzzle that weaves the tapestry of life together, we come to value our own unique gifts beyond the limitations and lack of support in society, and we yearn for community to share it with each other.

My passion for Dance, Acting, and Music led me to create Transform Through Arts Theater, a community of artists on both local and global levels, to bring and bridge us together in expression of our unique colors and talents, to bring out the best in each other, and to inspire the audience to connect with their true selves and what we are becoming as humanity.

The purpose of Transform Through Arts Theater is to ignite, evoke and awaken the parts of ourselves and transform the challenges of human existence into a celebration of positive change.

In this challenging time of transformation on the global level it is more than ever important to come together and celebrate our unique contribution to the world, to unite and bring peace to humanity as we realize our oneness with each other. And the Performing Arts are a beautiful way to bring that about.

-Yulia
